

Chen Quanyun, Consultant of the State Council and President of China Nonferrous Metals Industry Association, and His Party Paying an Investigating Visit to CNMC Luanshya

On August 2, 2013, accompanied by Zhang Keli, secretary of CPC Committee for CNMC, Chen Quanyun, consultant of the State Council and president of China Nonferrous Metals Industry Association (CNMIA), and his party paid an investigating visit to CNMC Luanshya, an enterprise of CNMCL in Zambia. Accompanying President Chen were also several other leaders, including RenXudong, executive vice president of CNMIA, and Tao Xinghu, vice chair of the board and CEO of CNMCL.

First, LuoXingeng, executive director and DCEO of CNMCL and president of CNMC Luanshya, introduced to President Chen and his party the production resumption of Baluba Copper Mine and the successful construction and smooth operation of Muliashi Metal Leach Project by CNMCL in recent years, and the main work of the coming period. Then, President Chen and his party entered Muliashi mining area and visited the model room, central control room, electrowinning workshop, hard rock piling yard, and open-pit mine. Mr. LuoXingeng briefed

President Chen about the company's practice in handling public relations, fulfilling its social responsibilities, and implementing localization.

During the visit, the modernity of the leaching smelting equipment and technologies used by CNMC Luanshya gave President Chen a deep impression. He spoke highly of the achievements of CNMC and CNMCL in fulfilling development in Africa and benefiting local community and regarded them as models for other enterprises. Meanwhile, he hopes that CNMCL continues working hard to soundly handle the mine's production and operation and build an even better overseas image for central enterprises.
